

First Aid International Emergency Aid and the Appointed Person

Course Information Sheet

The Emergency Aid and the Appointed Person course is designed to train individuals and company staff that require appointed person training in basic first aid skills.

This course will provide first aid skills necessary to manage a patient that is not breathing normally, is unconscious or is bleeding prior to the arrival of the emergency services.

The Emergency Aid and the Appointed Person course is designed to meet the recommendations of the HSE Health and Safety at Work Regulations for Appointed Persons in the Workplace.

This course has not been replaced by Emergency First Aid at Work. Depending on the degree of hazard and number of employees in your work place this qualification may be all that's required for your overall first aid provision.

For full details of the course content please see overleaf.
